INVESTIGATIONS

The Investigation Division is comprised of one Detective Lieutenant, five Detective Sergeants and one Deputy assigned to the Johnson County Drug Task Force. Detectives within the division cover any in-depth investigation that may require specialized training.

Some of these investigations include burglary, critical incidents, robbery, sexual assault, fraud, murder, arson and internal investigations. The Investigation Division also investigates any suspicious or unattended death in coordination with the Johnson County Medical Examiner's Office.

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office became a founding member of JFACT in 2021. The team includes investigators from local agencies who are professionally credentialed as Certified Forensic Computer Examiners by the International Association of Computer Investigative Specialists. This training program is accredited by an independent body, the Forensic Specialties Accreditation Board. For 2024, JFACT also began partnering with the National Computer Forensics Institute, operated by the United States Secret Service, to receive additional training and equipment.

Digital forensic examiners perform forensically sound data acquisition and examination procedures to report artifacts of human interaction with digital devices and data. To date, JFACT has provided digital forensic assistance to more than 50 state, local and federal agencies. All digital devices and data submitted to JFACT for analysis must include appropriate authorizing legal process or documentation.

Partnering with law enforcement agencies around the world, JFACT team members investigate Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) incidents. Working with the Johnson County Attorney's Office and United States Attorney's Office, suitable cases are brought to prosecution at the state or federal level.

As members of the broader Iowa ICAC Task Force, prevention and outreach are a priority. Team members provide presentations and programming for children, parents, and other law enforcement officers.

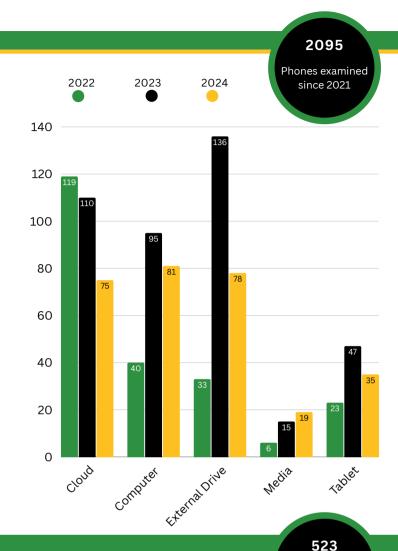

JFACT examined evidence by type

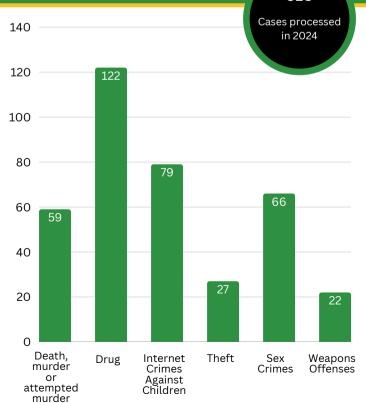

Cell phones represent the most frequently examined equipment at JFACT.

In 2024, JFACT analyzed digital devices and data associated with the following case types: death, murder or attempted murder; drug-related offenses; internet crimes against children; theft; sex crimes; and weapon offenses.

In 2024 Johnson County Sheriff's Office received 38,315 Calls for Service. From the Calls for Service 1,240 incident call reports (ICRs) were generated and 1,681 types of offenses investigated.

Iowa Code requires all law enforcement agencies to submit reports of crime and arrests to the Bureau of Criminal Investigations. Uniform Crime Reports (UCR) are categorized into Group A and Group B offenses.

Group A offenses are serious crimes and separated into violent crime offenses which include criminal homicide, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault and property crime offenses which include burglary, larceny, motor vehicle theft and arson.

Group B offenses are considered less serious offenses such as liquor law violations, disorderly conduct, trespass offenses and all other arrests not covered by Group A.

The following charts lists the types and number of cases the Johnson County Sheriff's Office reported in Johnson County over the last four years.

JAIL DIVISION

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office operates the only jail in the county. The original jail, constructed in 1899, was located behind the Johnson County Courthouse on South Clinton Street. In 1979 construction began on the existing jail and was completed in 1981.

The new jail housed 46 inmates but was remodeled within a few years. All cells were double bunked increasing capacity to 92 though occupational capacity is 65. Jail overcrowding remains a problem to this day and inmates are transported to other facilities where Johnson County pays a daily housing fee.

Over the last 23 years the Johnson County Sheriff's Office has paid over $16,200,000 to house inmates out of county.

JAIL - GPS MONITORING

In June 2022, the Johnson County Sheriff's Office launched a GPS Monitoring Program, inspired by a well-established pre-trial GPS initiative in Pitt County, North Carolina. This pilot program aimed to provide an alternative to incarceration, while decreasing the number of no-contact violations and enhancing victim safety. The program also enables defendants to sustain their employment, education, and treatment.

Through the use of ARPA funding, two Deputy Sheriff positions were added to oversee the program. In addition to GPS monitoring, these deputies also oversee our Work Release Program, Sex Offender Registry Compliance checks, and Mental Health Commitments. By shifting these responsibilities to dedicated personnel, jail staff are able to focus on jail custody related duties.

The Johnson County Jail prioritizes medical and mental health. As part of the admission process each individual completes a medical history intake form that includes a screening for potential self-injury or suicide risk.

Medical services are available around the clock through the University of Iowa Hospitals & Clinics, as well as assistance from an Emergency Room physician assistant. A registered nurse is on-site Monday through Friday to manage medication and address acute issues or emergencies as they arise.

Additionally, incarcerated individuals have access to an in-house social worker and can be referred to a contracted psychiatric specialist from Abbe Center. Collaborations with UIHC and Abbe Center ensure that all medical, mental health and dental needs of incarcerated individuals are met.

The Corrections Social Worker's role is to provide behavioral skill development and crisis intervention for inmates at the Johnson County Jail. The Social Worker engages with inmates, offering resources tailored to their specific needs and providing a supportive listening presence for other challenges they may face. In addition, the Corrections Social Worker collaborates with various organizations, including the Johnson County Attorney's Office, the University of Iowa, Abbe Center, Guidelink, Shelter House, Probation, Hope House, Inside Out, NAMI, and others, to facilitate opportunities and connections for inmates upon their release.

Since the program began in 2022, the Social Worker has averaged two inmate meetings per day, totaling approximately 500 meetings per year.

PATROL DIVISION

The Patrol Division is led by a Patrol Commander and consists of a Lieutenant, five Sergeants, 35 Deputies, 2 Canines and a Law Enforcement Mental Health Liaison. This division offers essential law enforcement services for the unincorporated areas of Johnson County. Additionally, it provides contract law enforcement services to the municipalities of Hills, Lone Tree, Oxford, Shueyville, Solon, Swisher, and Tiffin.

Deputies are responsible for patrolling 36 miles of interstate highways, 54 miles of state highways, and 909 miles of county roads.

Law Enforcement Mental Health Liaison

Communities across the country face challenges in effectively responding to mental health crises. Law enforcement officers are often the first responders to such incidents, yet they may lack the specialized training or resources necessary to successfully manage these situations.

In October of 2024, the Johnson County
Sheriff's Office, City of Coralville and North Liberty Police Department formed a partnership with MH/DS of the East Central Region integrating a shared Law Enforcement Mental Health Liaison position. The liaison is an employee of the Sheriff's Office and serves as the primary point of contact for law enforcement officers providing effective crisis

de-escalation and connection to appropriate behavioral health services with the goal of reducing recidivism and unnecessary hospital admissions.

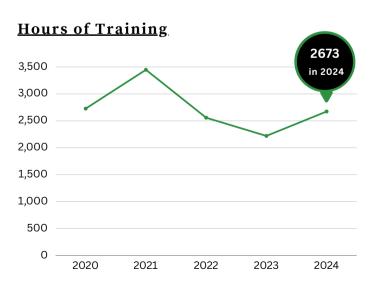

From November 2024 to January 2025, the Law Enforcement Liaison responded to a total of 62 dispatches and referrals from law enforcement. More than half of these individuals were contacted for mental health concerns, with many achieving stabilization within the community. Referrals were made to various services, including mental health support, elder services, housing assistance and crisis stabilization beds. Notably, of the 62 individuals serviced, only 9 required hospitalization and none were incarcerated.

PATROL PURSUITS

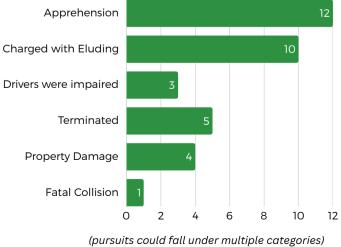

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office recognizes the fact that pursuits are inherently dangerous. For that reason, pursuits go through multiple layers of review to ensure that protocol is being followed and to identify officer safety issues, potential risks to the public, training needs and liability issues. All pursuits are subject to an after-action review which is completed by the pursuing deputy's immediate supervisor and includes the deputy who initiated the pursuit.

During the year 2024, Deputies with the Johnson County Sheriff's Office engaged in sixteen pursuits which is a 6% decrease from 2023. The sixteen pursuits are broken down as follows:

Evening Shift 56% Night Shift 38% Duration of pursuits (in minutes) 31% under 3 min 44% btwn 3-6 min 19% btwn 6-10 min 6% over 10 min

RECORDS DIVISION

The Records Division maintains all of the records for individuals booked in to the jail, investigative reports, and accident reports. This Division is also responsible for fulfilling records requests for both internal and external customers.

In addition, Records processes all firearm permit applications for residents of Johnson County and maintains the Iowa Sex Offender Registry information for any sex offender that resides, works or travels to Johnson County.

RESERVES

In 2024, the Reserve Unit continued its role as a support division at the Sheriff's Office, providing staffing resources primarily to the Patrol Division. Reserve deputies are a fixture at town festivals and special events, assist with crime prevention programs, and provide a uniformed presence at high school games and dances, allowing patrol deputies to focus on their normal duties alleviating the need for extra overtime. Those Reserves who have completed advanced field training augment patrol deputies during periods of minimum staffing or anticipated high call volume, responding to calls as backup or handling some calls on their own, freeing up full-time resources.

In 2024, several Reserve Deputies successfully completed training and earned certification through the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy. This certification increases capabilities and also enhances the professionalism and preparedness of the reserve force. The Reserve Unit remains committed to ongoing training and development, ensuring that all members are equipped with the knowledge and experience necessary to serve the community with integrity and excellence.

Also in 2024, the field training program for Reserve Deputies was officially launched, marking a significant step forward in strengthening the Reserve Unit's operational readiness. This new program provides a structured pathway for Reserve Deputies to gain hand-on experience and practical skills under the supervision of full-time Deputies. Currently, several Reserve Deputies are actively participating in the program, working toward obtaining their car qualifications, which will allow them to operate patrol vehicles independently and contribute more effectively to daily law enforcement operations.

On top of all that, these dedicated volunteers found time to assist in numerous assignments including assisting with the 2024 Elections/Campaign Events, assisting with CIT training, working town celebrations, assisting with active shooter drills at a local high school and much more.

USE OF FORCE

The Sheriff's Office began formally tracking use of force incidents in May 2023. Tracking use of force ensures transparency and helps identify training needs.

What does Use of Force mean?

"Use of force" can be defined as a situation in which a law enforcement officer interacts with an uncooperative individual and force is used, either in self-defense or to compel compliance.

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office determines a situation is a use of force incident anytime a deputy places hands on a person who is noncompliant. The most common occurrences for use of force incidents at the Johnson County Sheriff's Office are when taking someone into custody or when restraining someone engaging in self-harm.

Johnson County separates use of force incidents into two categories: "In custody" and "Not in custody".

Use of Force - In Custody (Jail)

In 2024, the Johnson County Jail processed 4656 bookings. During this time Jail Deputies were involved in a total of 81 use of force incidents.

Jail use of force is broken down into two categories: Less than 24hrs in custody and More than 24hrs in custody.

Individuals held less than 24hrs. are typically only in custody for jail booking process and an initial court appearance in front of a Judge. It is not uncommon for these individuals to be under the influence of alcohol or drugs during their time at the Johnson County Jail. There were 53 use of force incidents in this category. This equates to less than .01% of all bookings.

Individuals held more than 24hrs are typically those individuals who are held on bond for more serious offenses or those who are serving a sentence. There were 28 use of force incidents in this category.

Use of Force - Not in Custody (Patrol)

In 2024 the Johnson County Sheriff's Office logged 38,315 calls for service. During this time, Patrol Deputies were involved in 39 use of force incidents. This equates to .001% of calls for service resulting in use of force.

Overall

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office reviews all use of force incidents. There were no serious injuries reported for any of the 120 use of force incidents recorded for 2024.

COMPLAINTS

Complaints and Compliments on staff can be filed through the Sheriff's website, email or in person. The Sheriff's Office began tracking complaints in mid-2021.

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office logged 17 complaints against staff in 2024. This is an increase in complaints from the previous two years; 10 in 2023 and 15 in 2022.

All complaints are logged regardless of the seriousness of the allegation. If a member of the public submits a complaint electronically via the website or calls in to make a verbal complaint against a staff member, a complaint file is generated and investigated by a member of the Sheriff's Administrative team.

Investigations of complaints involve reviewing evidence such as camera recordings, documents and interviewing witnesses. The average complaint investigation was completed in 11 days.

Complaints about a deputy's attitude/actions "unprofessional behavior" was the most common sustained allegation.

Upon a "sustained" finding coupled with a policy violation, Sheriff's Administration typically consults with Johnson County Human Resources to appropriately address the behavior. This could result in a counseling session with the employee, additional training or other corrective disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Goals for reducing complaints

- 1. Promote and support professionalism across the office.
- 2. Continue to hold staff accountable with corrective action for sustained complaints regarding behavior that is not consistent with the standards and expectations of the Sheriff.
- 3. Promote leadership training for supervisors and incorporate Field Training Officers into leadership training.

Canine Echo

Echo is a Belgium Malinois born September 9, 2017 in Massachusetts for Canine Tactical of Iowa. He is a cloned canine, chosen for his high hunt drive and trainability. He is currently number 10 of 15, and five of the cloned canines are with law enforcement agencies in Iowa. Echo and his handler, Deputy Jesse Lenz, were trained in Chariton, Iowa by Canine Tactical of Iowa. Echo is trained in narcotics, tracking, building searches, article searches, apprehension, and officer protection. He started his career at 10 months old with the Johnson County Sheriff's Office in July of 2018.

Canine Rudy

Rudy came to the Johnson County Sheriff's Office in July 2023. He is a mixed breed rescue dog born in July 2022. K9 Rudy and Detective Schuerer became a certified Crisis Response K9 Team in March 2024. In 2024, the team was requested and attended 39 events.

Rudy's primary goal is to support staff after traumatic incidents or job-related stressors and to be a resource for victims and witnesses. Rudy works a 42-hour work week providing support and is a simple, non-confrontational resource to help build office morale, reduce cumulative stress on the job and improve emotional well-being. He accompanies Detective Schuerer during community outreach engagements on a regular basis.

Canine Bo

Bo is a Belgium Malinois born June 16, 2019, in Mexico. He and his handler, Deputy Kyle Campbell, were trained at Northern Michigan K9 and continue monthly trainings. Bo is trained in narcotics, tracking, building searches, apprehension and officer protection. He started his career at 15 months old with the Johnson County Sheriff's Office in July of 2020.

SPECIALITY ASSIGNMENTS

In addition to their regular responsibilities, deputies at the Johnson County Sheriff's Office are encouraged to undergo training in specialized fields. This additional training equips them to better support the office, collaborate with other local law enforcement agencies, and serve the community effectively.

Some of the specialized assignments are listed below.

- CIT Instructors
- CPR/AED Instructors
- Crash Investigators
- Crisis/Hostage Negotiator
- Defensive Tactics Instructors

2024 COMMUNITY EVENTS

Fostering positive change in Johnson County starts with the community. The Johnson County Sheriff's Office works hand in hand with partner agencies and community stakeholders throughout the county, linking prevention and enforcement efforts through active community engagement and participation in outreach events.

Additionally, the Sheriff's Office maintains a strong presence on social media. In 2024, the Sheriff's Office Facebook page recorded 736,107 visits, reached 526,408 accounts, and attracted 1,972 followers. Of these followers, 62.4% are women and 37.6% are men.
